Spring into Summer

Get ready for 2018! It's not too soon. People are planning and planting their gardens, spring has sprung and summer will be here in no time. Take advantage of our community development courses, especially if you are a member of another local group, a job changer or work at any level of local or state government. In its second year, Introduction to Community Development Practices provides solid skills and work experiences in asset based community development, working in challenging environments, community event management, community enterprise development and collaboration. And if you find working under pressure with a variety of personalities a real challenge, then you won't want to miss the TetraMap sessions which form part of this course. This will be invaluable to anyone who works in high demand environments or with the broader community at large. Early birds discount applies. Starts Saturday Sept 30th.

WeatherSmarts is a brand new ECH approach using our Centre of Resilience strategy to gear up for climate calamities such as bushfires, extreme storms, high winds as well as asthma thunderstorms which can create an emergency for you very quickly. Just how ready are you? This program is required for our childcare parents to attend if they want a permanent position in our affordable licensed childcare programs. Others are welcome to join us as we listen to the speakers from CFA, SES and Cardinia Shire and then query the advisory panel.

Who are your emergency contacts and what is their plan? What if the power goes out or networks go down? How long could you be isolated? What does loss of power or services mean for your family, pets and jobs? How long could they be on your own? Do you know all of the entrances and exits to the hills area & how road closures will affect you? What happens when your situation changes (personal health, disability, transport, caring for children)?

Test your perception about your readiness by attending this informative inaugural forum where you get to ask some questions of your own.

Friday Oct 27th, 7-9pm ECH Hall following Dig In Community Café.

Our Social Media course is just what you need to take control of your accounts, profiles and pages. How can you make social media work for you without being a slave or an addict to it? Who should you be sharing with and how do you maintain all of the notifications? What kind of security settings should you be using to protect your information? How do you even get started? This has been a popular class so online registration is available during the school holidays and you can book early to avoid disappointment. Starts Tues October 3rd so be quick!

'Food is Free'

This project is part of a worldwide movement that believes food should be freely available to everyone. Emerald Community House has now set up a Food is Free pantry cupboard to offer food freely to the whole community.

Everyone is welcome to take food from the pantry and anyone can contribute food to the pantry. We only ask that you try to keep your donated foods reasonably healthy and within their use by dates, and that any fresh food donated can be stored in a sealed container to keep the possums out. Please feel free to leave a comment or suggestion in the book. This will help us to better provide for the needs of our community.

We hope that we can keep this food pantry well stocked through the generosity of our wonderful community. Please remember this pantry is for everyone's use. Food sustains us, food connects us. Food is life!

"When asked why I like ECH childcare so much, after looking at so many. I couldn't go past the attention to detail in their care, safety and effort of fun. Little people just need basic things. But when those little moments tie into a whole day and they come out happy. You know the staff are always making an effort, always watching and teaching them about making friends. But most of all I observed the patience and kindness that every member of staff had for all the children. My son wouldn't let go of me normally, but he sensed something too and happily goes off to play. They deserve to be acknowledged for being one of the best childcare centres in the Hills". Raquel (Emerald)

Palliative Care Program

Monthly Group Meeting Sessions - All Welcome

Dates: Sept 27th, Oct 25th, Nov 22nd & Dec 20th

Time & Venue: 7pm - 9pm, Emerald Community House Hall

End of life care has many dimensions not restricted to the person facing their own mortality, but also family members and carers and their extended family and friends.

A terminal diagnosis due to an incurable disease which might be short or long, brings with it many questions including “where do I want to die and how will my care be managed”.

Then there is the person diagnosed with a neurological degenerative disease such as dementia, that might be slow to progress and often requiring full time nursing care, until death. Once again many questions are raised with family members and carers about how will care be managed and can it be within the familiar home setting.

HELP is a practical guide for communities to support local people who wish to receive end-of-life care in their home, or community setting.

The goal of HELP is to create a sustainable collaborative local culture that attends to end-of-life needs for local residents.

Emerald Community House

Healthy End of Life Program (HELP)

Offering, asking for and accepting help

Creating an End of Life Collaborative Community Culture in Emerald

Emerald Community House aims to build end of life community capacity and resilience in two ways:

By generating, in partnership with other community forums, public conversation, community discussion and skill sharing on the role of community at end of life.

By creating a community network of people with capacity to support other community members who wish to receive end of life care at home.

HELP invites community members to offer of themselves to be called upon to offer practical support for the person, enabling as best as possible, continuation of life with elements that previously gave purpose and meaning to the person's life. There are no limits to practical support, be it mowing the lawns, changing a light globe or providing company.

The 'other side of the coin' is care and support for the person's carer, often their partner, who is present 'around the clock' and who might appreciate an occasional break from what is often an enormously stressful and tiring situation.

The first Healthy End of Life Program (HELP); offering, asking for and accepting help was held and organised by the Emerald Community House in February 2017.

The gathering was attended by eight (8) local community members together with representatives from La Trobe University Palliative Care Unit and Eastern Metropolitan Region Palliative Care Consortium.

Subsequent and expanded gatherings have convened each month and envisaged ongoing meetings continue throughout the year, as there is real interest and enthusiasm for community members 'stepping up' to enable those wishing to die at home, to realise their last wishes.

Customer Testimonial

"I just wanted to pass on my gratitude for providing us with such a lovely venue to celebrate and remember my mum, and the personable and relaxed way that our booking was managed. As well as being spoilt geographically, the good folk of Emerald are incredibly fortunate to have such a beautiful facility in our town. You and the team at ECH do us proud with your efforts." - Clive (Emerald)

The Centre of Resilience (COR) is a community development model piloted at Emerald Community House committing to resilience building ideas and initiatives that stimulate community strength and social durability. This includes activities that invest in job skills for a stronger economy, sustainability action, social justice, resourcefulness and community asset protection.

The goal of COR is to contribute to "community continuity" by encouraging the efficient and effective use of existing social, natural, economic and built community based assets in a sustainable way.

A community continuity strategy, contributes directly to:

- Sustainable economic, environmental and social benefits
- Enhancement of community governance and leadership skills through proactive processes
- An increase in community participation in education, volunteering, living and employment skills
- Safer and happier communities

Core Humanitarian Standards

ECH invites other community groups engaged in community development activities to adopt appropriate standards such as the Core Humanitarian Standards (CHS) which are recognized throughout the international humanitarian sector. These standards should now be embraced by governments, councils and community groups who are involved in supporting people in crisis or in high risk disaster areas.
